B Snyman outlined that the liberators give a report of the conditions at release but no one really knows the exact conditions pigeon will encounter along the way. There is so many weather websites to choose from and question is who is actually giving the correct predictions.

8.2 Members Outside the boundaries

R Walker enquired about members wanting to fly with QRPF but are outside the boundary. B Snyman outlined that an application would be required and the Management committee have two options of them flying as associate member or charging them per crate to transport their birds to race point.

The QRPF secretary will still invoice each club on a monthly base. C Porter is happy to take on this role and all clubs will need to call C Porter to book your crates for the next week. Monday of each week will be the cutoff date to book training crates.
Carried.

8.7 Code of Conduct

B Snyman raised that it is hard to find members to step up to volunteer to keep the QRPF running and the reason why is that you get a certain members that continuously use bully tactics at meetings by not giving members the chance to respond by continuously interrupting and making their point. B Snyman outlined a certain member that has made threats to QRPF executive committee member and is always criticising but has zero contribution to running the federation. This behaviour should not be tolerated at the QRPF. The Management committee will send notice to this member.
